

Weekly Shopping Lists

Each list covers every recipe cooked that week for two people, including the batches that feed the following days and the freezer; leftovers are not listed twice. Cross off what is already in the cupboard. Every week, as well: two litres of milk for the tea; a bag of frozen berries; lemons and limes; a dozen eggs beyond the ones listed; a spare tub of low-fat Greek yogurt; a jar of almonds and one of walnuts; and a bag of frozen kale or spinach; a spare carton of fortified soya milk; and a tin of skimmed milk powder for the mash and the porridge. Amounts are rounded up to what you can actually buy.

The Fridge Card: Keep, Limit, Avoid

Cut out and keep on the fridge. Targets: 1,200 mg of calcium a day from food (not above 2,000 in total); 20 g or more of protein at every meal; vitamin D 800 to 1,000 IU every day; oily fish twice a week; the greens most days; salt under 6 g (2,300 mg of sodium); the walk every day; the strength and balance session three times a week.

Keep (every day)	Limit (measure it)	Avoid
Milk, yogurt, skyr, kefir, cottage cheese: three portions a day; fortified soya, oat or almond milk if not dairy (shake the carton)	Hard cheese: a matchbox (30 g) a day; it is salty as well as rich in calcium	Salt: the cellar off the table, the stock cubes and the sauces checked, the processed meat and the ready meals rare
Canned sardines and salmon with the bones; oily fish twice a week (salmon, mackerel, trout, sardines, herring)	Coffee: one or two cups, made with milk; tea freely, with milk	More than two or three units of alcohol a day; any smoking
Calcium-set tofu (calcium sulphate on the label), tempeh, beans and lentils	Spinach, rhubarb, beet greens: good food, but their calcium is locked up; count kale, broccoli, bok choy and cabbage instead	Cola and other fizzy drinks by the litre (phosphoric acid, and they push out the milk)
Kale, broccoli, bok choy, cabbage, watercress, rocket: the absorbable greens, and the vitamin K	Bran by the bowl and wheat bran on everything: it binds calcium at the same meal	Crash diets and very low calorie diets: weight loss after sixty is bone loss too
Almonds, sesame seeds, tahini, chia, figs, dried apricots, oranges	Calcium tablets: only for the shortfall the food does not cover, 500 mg at a time, with a meal, never with the bone medicine	Skippping the bone medicine, or taking it wrongly (the weekly tablet: empty stomach, a full glass of water, upright for thirty minutes)
Protein at every meal: eggs, fish, poultry, lean meat, dairy, beans, tofu	Vitamin A supplements above the recommended dose (retinol, not beta-carotene) and high-dose fish liver oil	Sitting for the day: bone needs weight on the feet
Vitamin D every morning; the walk; the strength and balance session; the sunlight in summer	Weight-bearing impact (jogging, jumping) only if the scan and the doctor allow it	Bending forward with a rounded spine to lift, and the sit-ups and toe-touches that load it

The six rules: calcium at every meal; protein at every meal; vitamin D every day; the salt down and the coffee to two; the walk every day; the strength and balance work three times a week.

The calcium counter, roughly: a glass of milk 300 mg; a pot of yogurt 200 to 300; a pot of skyr 220; 30 g of hard cheese 250; a can of sardines 220 to 350; a small can of salmon with bones 250; 100 g of calcium-set tofu 350; a tablespoon of tahini 65; a tablespoon of sesame seeds 90; a handful of almonds 80; two handfuls of kale 90; a head of bok choy 105; a slice of wholemeal bread 40; an orange 40; three dried figs 60; a tablespoon of chia 75.

Call the doctor for a fall, any new back pain that comes on suddenly (a spine fracture can happen without a fall), a lost inch of height, heartburn or difficulty swallowing on a bisphosphonate tablet, jaw or thigh pain on a bone medicine, a fracture from a fall from standing height (which means the treatment needs reviewing), and before stopping any bone medicine.
