

Weekly Shopping Lists

Each list covers every recipe cooked that week for two people, including the batches that feed the following days and the freezer; leftovers are not listed twice. Cross off what is already in the cupboard. Every week, as well: two litres of milk for the tea; a bag of frozen berries; lemons and limes; a dozen eggs beyond the ones listed; a spare tub of low-fat Greek yogurt; a jar of almonds and one of walnuts; and a bag of frozen cauliflower rice for the nights the fresh head is too much trouble; and, for the larger version, the extra loaf and milk. Amounts are rounded up to what you can actually buy.

My Own Week

Write your own week from the recipes you liked. The rules: three meals with protein at every one (20 g at breakfast, 25 to 40 g at lunch and dinner); half the plate vegetables; the starch measured (one small potato, 40 g of dry grain, one slice); two snacks with protein or fibre; a dessert after a meal on the nights you want one; nothing with calories to drink; the walk every day and the strength session three times a week. Aim for about 1,500 calories a day (1,750 in the larger version), 90 to 120 g of protein and 30 g of fibre.

Weight, Waist and Habit Tracker

Start weight: _____ Height: _____ BMI: _____ Waist: _____ Blood pressure: _____ Goal weight (5 to 10 per cent off, agreed with the doctor if you take medicines): _____ My version (standard / larger): _____ My medicines that may need adjusting as the weight falls (insulin? sulfonylurea? blood pressure? water tablet?): _____

The Monday weigh-in

Once a week, Monday morning, after the bathroom and before breakfast, the same scales on the same hard floor. Write the number and nothing else; the line over four weeks is what counts, not any one Monday. A pound (half a kilogram) a week is the target; two pounds a week after the first fortnight is too fast after sixty (add the larger-version extras); nothing for three weeks is a stall (Chapter 4 says what to change).

The Fridge Card: Keep, Limit, Avoid

Cut out and keep on the fridge. Targets: about 1,500 calories a day (1,750 in the larger version); 90 to 120 g of protein, at every meal; 30 g of fibre; half the plate vegetables; a pound a week; the walk every day; the strength session three times a week.

Keep (every day)	Limit (measure it)	Avoid
Vegetables at every meal, half the plate: leafy greens, broccoli, cauliflower, peppers, tomatoes, courgette, green beans, mushrooms, salad; soups	Starch: one small potato, 40 g of dry rice or grain, one slice of wholemeal, one wrap, half a nest of noodles; measured, not banned	Sugary drinks, fruit juice, smoothies from a bottle, milky coffee-shop drinks, 'diet' drinks that keep the sweet tooth alive
Protein at every meal: eggs, fish, chicken, turkey, lean meat, skyr, Greek yogurt, cottage cheese, beans, lentils, tofu	Fat by the teaspoon: olive oil, nuts (a level tablespoon), seeds, avocado (a quarter), peanut butter (a level tablespoon), cheese (30 g)	Second helpings; the heaped spoon; eating from the packet, the jar or the pan
Beans, lentils and chickpeas most days: fibre and protein at once	Fruit: two or three pieces a day, whole; berries, apples, pears, oranges first	Biscuits, cakes, pastries, sweets, chocolate bars, crisps, ice cream, 'low-fat' sweetened yogurts
Water; tea and coffee with milk; a glass of milk with a meal in the larger version	Bread: one slice, open, not two; wholemeal, dense	Fried food, chips, takeaways more than once a fortnight; processed meat
Oily fish twice a week; eggs; the roast with the skin left	Dark chocolate (70 per cent): one or two squares after a meal	Alcohol on weeknights; more than one drink at a time
The walk; the strength session; the seven hours of sleep; the twenty-minute meal	Eating out: once a week, the menu rules in Chapter 12	Crash diets, meal-replacement shakes for weeks on end, skipping meals to save calories

The six rules: protein at every meal; half the plate vegetables; the starch measured; nothing with calories to drink; twenty minutes for a meal; the walk every day, the strength work three times a week.

The swaps that halve the calories: cauliflower rice for rice; lentil pasta or courgette ribbons for half the pasta; half-and-half cauliflower mash; one slice of bread, open, not two; a quarter of an avocado, not half; Greek yogurt for cream, mayonnaise and sour cream; a small potato for a large; soup before the meal; fruit for dessert, chocolate grated not chunked.

Call the doctor if you are losing weight without trying, or faster than two pounds a week after the first fortnight; if you feel faint, dizzy on standing, shaky or sweaty (the medicines may need
